Competency Based Training (CBT) and assessment – An introduction for trainers

Competency

Competency refers to the ability to perform particular tasks and duties to the standard of performance expected in the workplace.

Competency requires the application of specified knowledge, skills and attitudes relevant to effective participation, consistently over time and in the workplace environment.

The essential skills and knowledge are either identified separately or combined.

Knowledge identifies what a person needs to know to perform the work in an informed and effective manner.

Skills describe the application of knowledge to situations where understanding is converted into a workplace outcome.

Attitude describes the founding reasons behind the need for certain knowledge or why skills are performed in a specified manner.

Competency covers all aspects of workplace performance and involves:

- Performing individual tasks
- Managing a range of different tasks
- Responding to contingencies or breakdowns
- Dealing with the responsibilities of the workplace
- Working with others.

Unit of Competency

Like with any training qualification or program, a range of subject topics are identified that focus on the ability in a certain work area, responsibility or function.

Each manual focuses on a specific unit of competency that applies in the hospitality workplace.

In this manual a unit of competency is identified as a 'unit'.

Each unit of competency identifies a discrete workplace requirement and includes:

- Knowledge and skills that underpin competency
- Language, literacy and numeracy
- Occupational health and safety requirements.

Each unit of competency must be adhered to in training and assessment to ensure consistency of outcomes.

Element of Competency

An element of competency describes the essential outcomes within a unit of competency.

The elements of competency are the basic building blocks of the unit of competency. They describe in terms of outcomes the significant functions and tasks that make up the competency.

In this manual elements of competency are identified as an 'element'.

Performance criteria

Performance criteria indicate the standard of performance that is required to demonstrate achievement within an element of competency. The standards reflect identified industry skill needs.

Performance criteria will be made up of certain specified skills, knowledge and attitudes.

Learning

For the purpose of this manual learning incorporates two key activities:

- Training
- Assessment.

Both of these activities will be discussed in detail in this introduction.

Today training and assessment can be delivered in a variety of ways. It may be provided to participants:

- On-the-job – in the workplace
- Off-the-job – at an educational institution or dedicated training environment
- As a combination of these two options.

No longer is it necessary for learners to be absent from the workplace for long periods of time in order to obtain recognised and accredited qualifications.

Learning Approaches

This manual will identify two avenues to facilitate learning:

Competency Based Training (CBT)

This is the strategy of developing a participant's competency.

Educational institutions utilise a range of training strategies to ensure that participants are able to gain the knowledge and skills required for successful:

- Completion of the training program or qualification
- Implementation in the workplace.

The strategies selected should be chosen based on suitability and the learning styles of participants.

Competency Based Assessment (CBA)

This is the strategy of assessing competency of a participant.

Educational institutions utilise a range of assessment strategies to ensure that participants are assessed in a manner that demonstrates validity, fairness, reliability, flexibility and fairness of assessment processes.

Flexibility in Learning

It is important to note that flexibility in training and assessment strategies is required to meet the needs of participants who may have learning difficulties. The strategies used will vary, taking into account the needs of individual participants with learning difficulties. However they will be applied in a manner which does not discriminate against the participant or the participant body as a whole.

Catering for Participant Diversity

Participants have diverse backgrounds, needs and interests. When planning training and assessment activities to cater for individual differences, trainers and assessors should:

- Consider individuals' experiences, learning styles and interests
- Develop questions and activities that are aimed at different levels of ability
- Modify the expectations for some participants
- Provide opportunities for a variety of forms of participation, such as individual, pair and small group activities
- Assess participants based on individual progress and outcomes.

The diversity among participants also provides a good reason for building up a learning community in which participants support each other's learning.

Participant Centred Learning

This involves taking into account structuring training and assessment that:

- Builds on strengths – Training environments need to demonstrate the many positive features of local participants (such as the attribution of academic success to effort, and the social nature of achievement motivation) and of their trainers (such as a strong emphasis on subject disciplines and moral responsibility). These strengths and uniqueness of local participants and trainers should be acknowledged and treasured
- Acknowledges prior knowledge and experience – The learning activities should be planned with participants' prior knowledge and experience in mind
- Understands learning objectives – Each learning activity should have clear learning objectives and participants should be informed of them at the outset. Trainers should also be clear about the purpose of assignments and explain their significance to participants
- Teaches for understanding – The pedagogies chosen should aim at enabling participants to act and think flexibly with what they know
- Teaches for independent learning – Generic skills and reflection should be nurtured through learning activities in appropriate contexts of the curriculum. Participants should be encouraged to take responsibility for their own learning

- Enhances motivation – Learning is most effective when participants are motivated. Various strategies should be used to arouse the interest of participants
- Makes effective use of resources – A variety of teaching resources can be employed as tools for learning
- Maximises engagement – In conducting learning activities, it is important for the minds of participants to be actively engaged
- Aligns assessment with learning and teaching – Feedback and assessment should be an integral part of learning and teaching
- Caters for learner diversity – Trainers should be aware that participants have different characteristics and strengths and try to nurture these rather than impose a standard set of expectations.

Active Learning

The goal of nurturing independent learning in participants does not imply that they always have to work in isolation or solely in a classroom. On the contrary, the construction of knowledge in tourism and hospitality studies can often best be carried out in collaboration with others in the field. Sharing experiences, insights and views on issues of common concern, and working together to collect information through conducting investigative studies in the field (active learning) can contribute a lot to their eventual success.

Active learning has an important part to play in fostering a sense of community in the class. First, to operate successfully, a learning community requires an ethos of acceptance and a sense of trust among participants, and between them and their trainers. Trainers can help to foster acceptance and trust through encouragement and personal example, and by allowing participants to take risks as they explore and articulate their views, however immature these may appear to be. Participants also come to realise that their classmates (and their trainers) are partners in learning and solving.

Trainers can also encourage cooperative learning by designing appropriate group learning tasks, which include, for example, collecting background information, conducting small-scale surveys, or producing media presentations on certain issues and themes. Participants need to be reminded that, while they should work towards successful completion of the field tasks, developing positive peer relationships in the process is an important objective of all group work.

Competency Based Training (CBT)

Principle of Competency Based Training

Competency based training is aimed at developing the knowledge, skills and attitudes of participants, through a variety of training tools.

Training Strategies

The aims of this curriculum are to enable participants to:

- Undertake a variety of subject courses that are relevant to industry in the current environment
- Learn current industry skills, information and trends relevant to industry
- Learn through a range of practical and theoretical approaches
- Be able to identify, explore and solve issues in a productive manner

- Be able to become confident, equipped and flexible managers of the future
- Be 'job ready' and a valuable employee in the industry upon graduation of any qualification level.

To ensure participants are able to gain the knowledge and skills required to meet competency in each unit of competency in the qualification, a range of training delivery modes are used.

Types of Training

In choosing learning and teaching strategies, trainers should take into account the practical, complex and multi-disciplinary nature of the subject area, as well as their participant's prior knowledge, learning styles and abilities.

Training outcomes can be attained by utilising one or more delivery methods:

Lecture/Tutorial

This is a common method of training involving transfer of information from the trainer to the participants. It is an effective approach to introduce new concepts or information to the learners and also to build upon the existing knowledge. The listener is expected to reflect on the subject and seek clarifications on the doubts.

Demonstration

Demonstration is a very effective training method that involves a trainer showing a participant how to perform a task or activity. Through a visual demonstration, trainers may also explain reasoning behind certain actions or provide supplementary information to help facilitate understanding.

Group Discussions

Brainstorming in which all the members in a group express their ideas, views and opinions on a given topic. It is a free flow and exchange of knowledge among the participants and the trainer. The discussion is carried out by the group on the basis of their own experience, perceptions and values. This will facilitate acquiring new knowledge. When everybody is expected to participate in the group discussion, even the introverted persons will also get stimulated and try to articulate their feelings.

The ideas that emerge in the discussions should be noted down and presentations are to be made by the groups. Sometimes consensus needs to be arrived at on a given topic. Group discussions are to be held under the moderation of a leader guided by the trainer. Group discussion technique triggers thinking process, encourages interactions and enhances communication skills.

Role Play

This is a common and very effective method of bringing into the classroom real life situations, which may not otherwise be possible. Participants are made to enact a particular role so as to give a real feel of the roles they may be called upon to play. This enables participants to understand the behaviour of others as well as their own emotions and feelings. The instructor must brief the role players on what is expected of them. The role player may either be given a ready-made script, which they can memorize and enact, or they may be required to develop their own scripts around a given situation. This technique is extremely useful in understanding creative selling techniques and human relations. It can be entertaining and energizing and it helps the reserved and less literate to express their feelings.

Simulation Games

When trainees need to become aware of something that they have not been conscious of, simulations can be a useful mechanism. Simulation games are a method based on "here and now" experience shared by all the participants. The games focus on the participation of the trainees and their willingness to share their ideas with others. A "near real life" situation is created providing an opportunity to which they apply themselves by adopting certain behaviour. They then experience the impact of their behaviour on the situation. It is carried out to generate responses and reactions based on the real feelings of the participants, which are subsequently analysed by the trainer.

While use of simulation games can result in very effective learning, it needs considerable trainer competence to analyse the situations.

Individual /Group Exercises

Exercises are often introduced to find out how much the participant has assimilated. This method involves imparting instructions to participants on a particular subject through use of written exercises. In the group exercises, the entire class is divided into small groups, and members are asked to collaborate to arrive at a consensus or solution to a problem.

Case Study

This is a training method that enables the trainer and the participant to experience a real life situation. It may be on account of events in the past or situations in the present, in which there may be one or more problems to be solved and decisions to be taken. The basic objective of a case study is to help participants diagnose, analyse and/or solve a particular problem and to make them internalize the critical inputs delivered in the training. Questions are generally given at the end of the case study to direct the participants and to stimulate their thinking towards possible solutions. Studies may be presented in written or verbal form.

Field Visit

This involves a carefully planned visit or tour to a place of learning or interest. The idea is to give first-hand knowledge by personal observation of field situations, and to relate theory with practice. The emphasis is on observing, exploring, asking questions and understanding. The trainer should remember to brief the participants about what they should observe and about the customs and norms that need to be respected.

Group Presentation

The participants are asked to work in groups and produce the results and findings of their group work to the members of another sub-group. By this method participants get a good picture of each other's views and perceptions on the topic and they are able to compare them with their own point of view. The pooling and sharing of findings enriches the discussion and learning process.

Practice Sessions

This method is of paramount importance for skills training. Participants are provided with an opportunity to practice in a controlled situation what they have learnt. It could be real life or through a make-believe situation.

Games

This is a group process and includes those methods that involve usually fun-based activity, aimed at conveying feelings and experiences, which are everyday in nature, and applying them within the game being played. A game has set rules and regulations, and may or may not include a competitive element. After the game is played, it is essential that the participants be debriefed and their lessons and experiences consolidated by the trainer.

Research

Trainers may require learners to undertake research activities, including online research, to gather information or further understanding about a specific subject area.

Competency Based Assessment (CBA)

Principle of Competency Based Assessment

Competency based assessment is aimed at compiling a list of evidence that shows that a person is competent in a particular unit of competency.

Competencies are gained through a multitude of ways including:

- Training and development programs
- Formal education
- Life experience
- Apprenticeships
- On-the-job experience
- Self-help programs.

All of these together contribute to job competence in a person. Ultimately, assessors and participants work together, through the 'collection of evidence' in determining overall competence.

This evidence can be collected:

- Using different formats
- Using different people
- Collected over a period of time.

The assessor who is ideally someone with considerable experience in the area being assessed, reviews the evidence and verifies the person as being competent or not.

Flexibility in Assessment

Whilst allocated assessment tools have been identified for this subject, all attempts are made to determine competency and suitable alternate assessment tools may be used, according to the requirements of the participant.

The assessment needs to be equitable for all participants, taking into account their cultural and linguistic needs.

Competency must be proven regardless of:

- Language
- Delivery Method
- Assessment Method.

Assessment Objectives

The assessment tools used for subjects are designed to determine competency against the 'elements of competency' and their associated 'performance criteria'.

The assessment tools are used to identify sufficient:

- a) Knowledge, including underpinning knowledge
- b) Skills
- c) Attitudes

Assessment tools are activities that trainees are required to undertake to prove participant competency in this subject.

All assessments must be completed satisfactorily for participants to obtain competence in this subject. There are no exceptions to this requirement, however, it is possible that in some cases several assessment items may be combined and assessed together.

Types of Assessment

Allocated Assessment Tools

There are a number of assessment tools that are used to determine competency in this subject:

- Work projects
- Written questions
- Oral questions
- Third Party Report
- Observation Checklist.

Instructions on how assessors should conduct these assessment methods are explained in the Assessment Manuals.

Alternative Assessment Tools

Whilst this subject has identified assessment tools, as indicated above, this does not restrict the assessor from using different assessment methods to measure the competency of a participant.

Evidence is simply proof that the assessor gathers to show participants can actually do what they are required to do.

Whilst there is a distinct requirement for participants to demonstrate competency, there are many and diverse sources of evidence available to the assessor.

Ongoing performance at work, as verified by a supervisor or physical evidence, can count towards assessment. Additionally, the assessor can talk to customers or work colleagues to gather evidence about performance.

A range of assessment methods to assess competency include:

- Practical demonstrations
- Practical demonstrations in simulated work conditions
- Problem solving
- Portfolios of evidence
- Critical incident reports
- Journals
- Oral presentations
- Interviews
- Videos
- Visuals: slides, audio tapes
- Case studies
- Log books
- Projects
- Role plays
- Group projects
- Group discussions
- Examinations.

Recognition of Prior Learning

Recognition of Prior Learning is the process that gives current industry professionals who do not have a formal qualification, the opportunity to benchmark their extensive skills and experience against the standards set out in each unit of competency/subject.

Also known as a Skills Recognition Audit (SRA), this process is a learning and assessment pathway which encompasses:

- Recognition of Current Competencies (RCC)
- Skills auditing
- Gap analysis and training
- Credit transfer.

Assessing competency

As mentioned, assessment is the process of identifying a participant's current knowledge, skills and attitudes sets against all elements of competency within a unit of competency. Traditionally in education, grades or marks were given to participants, dependent on how many questions the participant successfully answered in an assessment tool.

Competency based assessment does not award grades, but simply identifies if the participant has the knowledge, skills and attitudes to undertake the required task to the specified standard.

Therefore, when assessing competency, an assessor has two possible results that can be awarded:

- Pass Competent (PC)
- Not Yet Competent (NYC).

Pass Competent (PC)

If the participant is able to successfully answer or demonstrate what is required, to the expected standards of the performance criteria, they will be deemed as 'Pass Competent' (PC).

The assessor will award a 'Pass Competent' (PC) if they feel the participant has the necessary knowledge, skills and attitudes in all assessment tasks for a unit.

Not Yet Competent' (NYC)

If the participant is unable to answer or demonstrate competency to the desired standard, they will be deemed to be 'Not Yet Competent' (NYC).

This does not mean the participant will need to complete all the assessment tasks again. The focus will be on the specific assessment tasks that were not performed to the expected standards.

The participant may be required to:

- a) Undertake further training or instruction
- b) Undertake the assessment task again until they are deemed to be 'Pass Competent'.

UNIT TITLE: PLAN, PREPARE AND DISPLAY A BUFFET SERVICE		NOMINAL HOURS: 45
UNIT NUMBER: D1.HCC.CL2.07
UNIT DESCRIPTOR: This unit deals with skills and knowledge required by cooks and chefs to plan, prepare, display and store a variety of buffet items in commercial food production environments
ELEMENTS AND PERFORMANCE CRITERIA		UNIT VARIABLE AND ASSESSMENT GUIDE
Element 1: Plan a buffet display and service 1.1 Plan a buffet display and service appropriate to client needs 1.2 Plan layout, display and presentation of the buffet 1.3 Calculate quantities required and food costs components of buffet 1.4 Select appropriate food items 1.5 Identify and prepare a variety of buffet centre pieces Element 2: Prepare and produce buffet dishes 2.1 Select appropriate preparation and cooking methods for dishes on buffet menu 2.2 Glaze buffet foods were appropriate 2.3 Hold prepared products as required prior to presenting		Unit Variables The Unit Variables provide advice to interpret the scope and context of this unit of competence, allowing for differences between enterprises and workplaces. It relates to the unit as a whole and facilitates holistic assessment. This unit applies to all industry sectors that prepare and display a buffet within the labour divisions of the hotel and travel industries and may include: - Food Production. Plan a buffet display may be related to: - Occasion, including stand up, sit down, finger and plated - Theme, such as birthday, cultural and festival - Hot and or cold - Sweet and/or savoury. Layout may be related to: - Service style/flow - Room set up

2.4 Prepare garnishes, sauces and accompaniments for appropriate buffet dishes

2.5 Use trimming and leftovers

Element 3: Display buffet dishes

3.1 Present buffet products

3.2 Hold prepared products as required for duration of buffet service

3.3 Minimise wastage through presentation and replenishing

3.4 Display buffet dishes attractively

Element 4: Store buffet items

4.1 Store fresh and/or Cryovac items correctly

4.2 Store buffet products appropriately in correct containers

4.3 Label stored buffet food correctly

4.4 Store in correct conditions to maintain freshness and quality

- Number of guests

- Time period

- Number of dishes.

Quantities will include:

- Portion control

- Standard recipes

- Service style.

Food items should relate to:

- Seasonal availability

- Occasion

- Client expenditure

- Enterprise profit

- Dietary and cultural needs

- Budget

- Season

- Occasion

- Client

- Savoury and sweet.

Centre pieces may include:

- Carvings, such as margarine, ice, vegetables and fruit

- Chocolate, such as moulded, formed and painted

- Sugar work

- Arrangements, such as flowers, vegetables and fruit

	• Dough, such as bread and salt • Boxes, trays, bottles, tins and equipment. Cooking methods may be related to: • Techniques of cookery, including boiling, steaming, braising, stewing, roasting, baking, poaching, shallow frying, wok and stir fry • Dicing and slicing • Forming, such as galantine and terrine • Setting, such as gelatine and agar agar. Glaze may include: • Chaud/froid • Aspic • Flan gel • Mayonnaise • Gelatine. Hold may be related to: • Resting, portioning and cutting • Holding equipment • Cooling procedures • Hygiene practice. Garnishes, sauces and accompaniments may include: • Vegetables, fruit, herbs and flowers • Colour and flavour blends • Cultural flavours

	• Glazing • Coating • Flowers and leaves • Pastry • Sauces, sweet/savoury • Dietary and cultural styles/flavours. Trimmings may relate to: • Off cuts, usage • Saleable dishes • Menu varieties • Temperature time holding. Present should include: • Colour • Height • Service and storage temperature • Classical and cultural • Neatly and attractively • Planning location • Service and storage temperature • Ceramics • Glass • Crystal • Mirrors

	• Trays • Classical and cultural aspect • Neatly and attractively • Ease of service. Minimize wastage should include: • Storage space • Portion control • First In, First Out (FIFO) • Replenishing times, as needed. Display may be related to: • Colour arrangement • Container shape • Hot and cold • Height • Product grouping • Carving • Texture • Service areas • Temperature. Stored may include: • Cool room temperature • Cool room placement

	• Length of time in cool storage • Length of time in freezer storage • Appropriate process followed, Cryovac or ice packed • Storage containers before assembly • Storage containers after assembly • Dietary and cultural styles/flavours • Labelled • Freshness, quality and presentation • Temperature and humidity. Labelled must include: • Date • Item name • Handler name • Time, temperature and storage. Correct conditions should include: • Temperature and humidity • Stock rotation • Reporting faults • Changing containers. Assessment Guide The following skills and knowledge must be assessed as part of this unit: • Knowledge of correct method is demonstrated for buffet items
--	--

- Ability to identify food products by sight
- Ability to match ingredient quality to intended final product/use
- Overview of the relevant legislation in relation to food handling, food storage, chemical storage and general premises food safety
- Ability to demonstrate safe equipment/utensil practical skills
- Ability to interpret and adhere to enterprise recipes.

Linkages To Other Units

- Comply with workplace hygiene procedures
- Implement occupational health and safety procedures
- Prepare and store food
- Work effectively with colleagues and customers
- Maintain strategies for safe food
- Present and display food products
- Apply basic techniques of commercial cookery
- Prepare a variety of sandwiches
- Prepare stock and sauces
- Prepare soups
- Prepare vegetables, eggs and farinaceous dishes
- Identify and prepare various meats
- Prepare and cook poultry and game meats
- Prepare and cook seafood.

	Critical Aspects of Assessment Evidence of the following is essential: • Knowledge of the classifications and characteristics of buffet items and the terminology used • Demonstrate safe and hygienic handling of products • Appropriate portion control and wastage • Demonstrate complimentary presentation, garnishing and techniques • Demonstrate safe knife skills and other associated equipment • Demonstration of commodity knowledge including quality aspects • Knowledge of specific terminology related to various buffet items • Demonstrated ability to prepare buffet items from at least six different recipes and cultural backgrounds • Demonstrated ability to store various buffet items to industry and enterprise standards • Knowledge of appropriate portion control and wastage • Demonstrate complimentary presentation, garnishing and techniques • Demonstration of creative and artistic skills in preparation, decoration and display of buffet items. Context of Assessment This unit may be assessed on or off the job • Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation activity, supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge • Assessment must relate to the individual's work area or area of responsibility • Demonstration of skills on more than one occasion • Preparation and display of various buffet items within typical workplace conditions and timeframes.

	Resource Implications Training and assessment must include access and use of a fully equipped commercial kitchen, real ingredients and service equipment; and access to workplace standards, procedures, policies, guidelines, tools and equipment.
	Assessment Methods The following methods may be used to assess competency for this unit: • Observation of practical candidate performance • Oral and written questions • Third party reports completed by a supervisor • Project and assignment work • Sampling of dishes prepared by the student.
	Key Competencies in this Unit Level 1 = competence to undertake tasks effectively Level 2 = competence to manage tasks Level 3 = competence to use concepts for evaluating
	Key Competencies	Level	Examples
	Collecting, organising and analysing information	2	Determine requirements of standard recipes and/or menu requirements. Collect equipment, commodities and ingredients, read menus, recipes and task sheets; select and obtain commodities, organize ingredients and task sheets
Communicating ideas and information	2	Share information with other kitchen and floor service staff; read recipes, menus and instructions and orders

	Planning and organising activities	2	Work within time constraints in a logical sequence; plan logical and efficient sequence and timing of tasks
	Working with others and in teams	2	Work cooperatively with other team members
	Using mathematical ideas and techniques	2	Calculate portions, weigh and measure quantities against standard recipes and/or menu requirements
	Solving problems	1	Identify and correct problems in the preparation and production of products such as ingredient quality and equipment failure
	Using technology	1	Use mechanical kitchen equipment including weighing equipment

Really? • Do not take on what you cannot manage or learn to manage whatever comes along. Grow the business • Expand the business • Before agreeing to client requests be sure you can deliver or direct them to business that you think can. By doing this you gain the respect of the client and they may come back to you with something else later on as you are seen as honest in your own abilities and give good customer service. Student Activity: • Start developing portfolio of different ideas for theme functions • Work with front of house students and develop lists of what will be required to deliver satisfactory function to four different theme buffet.

- Children's party
- Teenager's party
- Business function
- Wedding anniversary

Slide 9

Slide No	Trainer Notes
9.	Trainer to advise: • Food will have to be different for each of the groups • Children's food will be different to teenagers food • Teenager food will be more sophisticated than children's food but more casual than business function or buffet • Wedding or wedding anniversary food will be slightly different.

Select appropriate food items

Buffet food items will include a wide variety of menu items from which to choose:

- Vegetarians
- Special dietary needs:
 - Gluten free
 - Nut allergies
 - Seafood and fish allergies

Slide 10

Slide No	Trainer Notes
10.	Trainer to advise: • Special consideration might be made for Special Dietary requirements • If it is a religious festival and no meat is eaten by followers of this religion then meat dishes will be off the menu • Even for people who may not particularly follow the specific religious lifestyles it would be bad manners not to respect beliefs and practice that guide that religious lifestyle • Medical dietary limitation • Australian Food laws have changed significantly in the last ten years • Food allergens are now required to be listed on labels and menus • Keeping the customer informed makes it easier for them to make an informed choice rather than asking all the relevant questions they may need to ask when ordering food from restaurants.

Need for artistic skills

Regardless of who is in charge of designing or setting up centrepieces or decorations it is essential that the person has suitable artistic skills to ensure the decoration:

- What artistic skills do staff need?
- How can they get these skills?

Considerations:

- Reflects the theme
- Is suitable
- Is made up of correct materials and colours
- Is correctly placed and sized
- Does not impact on the quality of food items
- Remains in suitable condition or quality during the life of the buffet

Slide 13

Element 2: Prepare and produce buffet dishes

- Select appropriate preparation and cooking methods for dishes on buffet menu
- Glaze buffet foods where appropriate
- Hold prepared products as required prior to presenting
- Prepare garnishes, sauces and accompaniments for appropriate buffet dishes
- Use trimming and leftovers

Slide 14

Slide No	Trainer Notes
14.	Trainer to advise: • Trainer to relate performance criteria to element 2 • Performance criteria is the process by which the students training match the learning element • The element is the skill • To assess competency in the skill; the performance criteria is used to outline activities that can be used to assess competency. • The trainer should relate how the performance criteria is related to the element • To be able to Plan, prepare and display a buffet service the students must be able to; Prepare and produce buffet dishes The student should be able to do: • Select appropriate preparation and cooking methods for dishes on buffet menu • Glaze buffet foods where appropriate • Hold prepared products as required prior to presenting • Prepare garnishes, sauces and accompaniments for appropriate buffet dishes • Use trimming and leftovers.

Select cooking methods for buffet dishes

- Preparation prior
- Cooking on the day
- Serving? Ease of
- Serving? Speed of

Slide 15

Slide No	Trainer Notes
15.	Trainer to advise: • Buffet will have many methods of cooking when using a wide range dishes • What can be prepared before the buffet 85% • What will be cooked on the day of the buffet 10%.

Slide

Glaze buffet foods

Eye appeal:

- ◉ Decorate with colour cut outs

Theme:

- ◉ Decoration on glazed

Ease of service:

- ◉ Lay one piece flat showing internal detail:
 - Highlights the skill of the cook and entices customer to select

Slide 16

Slide No	Trainer Notes
16.	Trainer to advise: • Glazing of buffet food has two roles: 2. To add eye appeal to the food 3. To protect the food from drying and looking 'OLD' Decorate a whole fish • The fish is cooked and going to be served whole • The colour can look dreary, grey and dull as they skin dries • It can be covered with clear ASPIC but the colour is still grey • Chaud froid is a aspic and veloute mixture that is applied to outside of cooked cold food • When it has set it leaves a blank canvas to be decorated • Decoration must be edible • Coloured vegetable portions or coloured jelly cut into different shape with aspic cutters. Clear aspic jelly • Is normally applied to food that needs to be protected from drying but still able to show attributes of food underneath • Slices of terrine or Galantine showing many layers but still protecting the food from drying.

Slide

Hold prepared products

- Storing after preparing and before serving:
 - Keep on separate containers
- Available space:
 - Store in designated space
- Correct temperature:
 - Keep all cooked food chilled until required

Slide 17

Slide No	Trainer Notes
17.	Trainer to advise: • Preparing buffet foods normally requires advanced planning and preparation • Foods can be cooked that are going to be served cold. Then have to be portioned or sliced • These then have to be stored until required, normally overnight • These have to be kept chilled • When food is prepared for specific buffet it all needs to be placed in separated space else it gets used by somebody else for their customers.

Prepare garnishes and sauces

- Variety:
 - Not all green chopped herb
- Complimenting to food display:
 - Keep to the theme of buffet
- Sauces:
 - Variety on side
 - Condiments to compliment

Slide 18

Slide No

Trainer Notes

18.

Trainer to advise:

- Garnishes needs to be prepared for most dishes
- The object is to add colour and interest to the food display
- Buffet production requires a large variety of garnishes:
 - You cannot have chopped herb on everything else it all looks the same
 - Herbs
 - Julienne of coloured vegetables
 - Shaved hard cheese like parmesan
 - Pickled vegetables like olives
 - Deep fried onion or leeks
 - Flower petals
 - Slices of fruit
 - Baked pastry shapes
 - Sugared strips of citrus peel dried.

Sauces

- Have a selection for the one meat; allow customer to choose
- Condiment served on side with easy access for customers to choose.

Slide

Plan, prepare and display a buffet service

Use trimmings and leftovers

- Utilising valuable commodity:
 - Save left over commodity for future use in menus
- Adding value:
 - Trimmings can be used in sauces and other dishes where applicable

Slide 19

Slide No	Trainer Notes
19.	Trainer to advise: Leftovers: • All production in the kitchen generates trimmings and leftovers • Leftover cooked meats that have not left the kitchen can be vacuum packed and stored for another function • Left over prepared salads that have not left the kitchen and not been dressed can be used for another function or staff meals the following day. Trimmings: • Trimmings that have been generated from production can be utilised and value added in other dishes or sauces for future use.

Importance of professional table settings

The presentation of a buffet table says a lot to customers about the level of service they can expect to receive in an establishment.

A great deal of work and attention to detail must be applied when setting buffet tables:

- What needs to be considered?

Slide 24

Slide No	Trainer Notes
24.	Trainer to advise: Discuss the question in the slide.

Slide

Display buffet dishes

Importance of professional table settings

Considerations

- Have all the necessary service crockery, cutlery, centrepieces, decorations and condiments, to name but a few items
- Must be complete
- Must be clean and hygienic
- Must be uniform and consistent throughout the outlet

Slide 25

Dressing tables

- On special occasions, or as part of standard operating procedures, buffet tables may need to be dressed
- Dressing takes place as part of the set up and enhances presentation of the table
- It is time consuming, and frequently requires additional items to be used, so it is an uncommon activity, rather than a common one

Slide 26

Slide No	Trainer Notes
26.	Trainer to discuss: • How can you dress a table?

Slide

Present buffet products

- Shape of the platter:
 - Different shapes for different food add interest
- Portion numbers on each platter:
 - Do not overload each platter
- Colour:
 - Ensure garnishes are not same colour as food
- Appealing to customer visual stimuli

Slide 28

Slide No	Trainer Notes
28.	Trainer to advise: Layout: • When presenting buffet foods it is good to use different shape platters as well as different sizes • Keep cold foods separated from hot section.

Slide

Present buffet products

- ◉ Shapes on the platter:
 - Different shapes of different food add interest
- ◉ Entremets and pastries can be placed on same platter:
 - Square
 - Round
 - Different colour; red and yellow on same platter

Slide 29

Slide No	Trainer Notes
29.	Trainer to advise: Layout: • By placing different small desserts, entremets, on same platter it allows for more even distribution around the room: ▪ Crème caramel ▪ Strawberry tartlets ▪ Mini passion fruit vacherin ▪ Chocolate mousse cups • All placed on same platter adds diversity and interest to display.

Slide

Plan, prepare and display a buffet service

- Hold prepared products until required
- Correct temperature
- Time
- Quality

Slide 30

Slide No	Trainer Notes
30.	Trainer to advise: • When platters have been prepared they have to be stored until they are required • Buffets are a lot of work; it cannot all be done at the same time • Keep all hot foods above 60 degrees Celsius until ready to serve: ▪ Timing of cooking and re-heating before service • Cold foods need to be kept in controlled atmosphere; below 5 degrees Celsius: ▪ Covered to protect from drying in open air; even in coolroom.

Slide

Plan, prepare and display a buffet service

- Minimise wastage through presentation and replenishing
- Size of platters used
- Amount of food on platter
- Time out of controlled atmosphere

Slide 31

Slide No	Trainer Notes
31.	Trainer to advise: • Keeping platters smaller make for easier handling and also better control over how much food sits out on buffet table at once and for length of time it sits on function table • Keep amount of food on platters to manageable level • It may mean more work for staff or it may keep them occupied: ▪ It may mean more staff is required • Less food on platters means less time out of controlled temperature.
