Competency Based Training (CBT) and assessment – An introduction for trainers

Competency

Competency refers to the ability to perform particular tasks and duties to the standard of performance expected in the workplace.

Competency requires the application of specified knowledge, skills and attitudes relevant to effective participation, consistently over time and in the workplace environment.

The essential skills and knowledge are either identified separately or combined.

Knowledge identifies what a person needs to know to perform the work in an informed and effective manner.

Skills describe the application of knowledge to situations where understanding is converted into a workplace outcome.

Attitude describes the founding reasons behind the need for certain knowledge or why skills are performed in a specified manner.

Competency covers all aspects of workplace performance and involves:

- Performing individual tasks
- Managing a range of different tasks
- Responding to contingencies or breakdowns
- Dealing with the responsibilities of the workplace
- Working with others.

Unit of Competency

Like with any training qualification or program, a range of subject topics are identified that focus on the ability in a certain work area, responsibility or function.

Each manual focuses on a specific unit of competency that applies in the hospitality workplace.

In this manual a unit of competency is identified as a 'unit'.

Each unit of competency identifies a discrete workplace requirement and includes:

- Knowledge and skills that underpin competency
- Language, literacy and numeracy
- Occupational safety and health requirements.

Each unit of competency must be adhered to in training and assessment to ensure consistency of outcomes.

Element of Competency

An element of competency describes the essential outcomes within a unit of competency.

The elements of competency are the basic building blocks of the unit of competency. They describe in terms of outcomes the significant functions and tasks that make up the competency.

In this manual elements of competency are identified as an 'element'.

Performance criteria

Performance criteria indicate the standard of performance that is required to demonstrate achievement within an element of competency. The standards reflect identified industry skill needs.

Performance criteria will be made up of certain specified skills, knowledge and attitudes.

Learning

For the purpose of this manual learning incorporates two key activities:

- Training
- Assessment.

Both of these activities will be discussed in detail in this introduction.

Today training and assessment can be delivered in a variety of ways. It may be provided to participants:

- On-the-job – in the workplace
- Off-the-job – at an educational institution or dedicated training environment
- As a combination of these two options.

No longer is it necessary for learners to be absent from the workplace for long periods of time in order to obtain recognised and accredited qualifications.

Learning Approaches

This manual will identify two avenues to facilitate learning:

Competency Based Training (CBT)

This is the strategy of developing a participant's competency.

Educational institutions utilise a range of training strategies to ensure that participants are able to gain the knowledge and skills required for successful:

- Completion of the training program or qualification
- Implementation in the workplace.

The strategies selected should be chosen based on suitability and the learning styles of participants.

Competency Based Assessment (CBA)

This is the strategy of assessing competency of a participant.

Educational institutions utilise a range of assessment strategies to ensure that participants are assessed in a manner that demonstrates validity, fairness, reliability, flexibility and fairness of assessment processes.

Flexibility in Learning

It is important to note that flexibility in training and assessment strategies is required to meet the needs of participants who may have learning difficulties. The strategies used will vary, taking into account the needs of individual participants with learning difficulties. However they will be applied in a manner which does not discriminate against the participant or the participant body as a whole.

Catering for Participant Diversity

Participants have diverse backgrounds, needs and interests. When planning training and assessment activities to cater for individual differences, trainers and assessors should:

- Consider individuals' experiences, learning styles and interests
- Develop questions and activities that are aimed at different levels of ability
- Modify the expectations for some participants
- Provide opportunities for a variety of forms of participation, such as individual, pair and small group activities
- Assess participants based on individual progress and outcomes.

The diversity among participants also provides a good reason for building up a learning community in which participants support each other's learning.

Participant Centred Learning

This involves taking into account structuring training and assessment that:

- Builds on strengths – Training environments need to demonstrate the many positive features of local participants (such as the attribution of academic success to effort, and the social nature of achievement motivation) and of their trainers (such as a strong emphasis on subject disciplines and moral responsibility). These strengths and uniqueness of local participants and trainers should be acknowledged and treasured
- Acknowledges prior knowledge and experience – The learning activities should be planned with participants' prior knowledge and experience in mind
- Understands learning objectives – Each learning activity should have clear learning objectives and participants should be informed of them at the outset. Trainers should also be clear about the purpose of assignments and explain their significance to participants
- Teaches for understanding – The pedagogies chosen should aim at enabling participants to act and think flexibly with what they know
- Teaches for independent learning – Generic skills and reflection should be nurtured through learning activities in appropriate contexts of the curriculum. Participants should be encouraged to take responsibility for their own learning

- Enhances motivation – Learning is most effective when participants are motivated. Various strategies should be used to arouse the interest of participants
- Makes effective use of resources – A variety of teaching resources can be employed as tools for learning
- Maximises engagement – In conducting learning activities, it is important for the minds of participants to be actively engaged
- Aligns assessment with learning and teaching – Feedback and assessment should be an integral part of learning and teaching
- Caters for learner diversity – Trainers should be aware that participants have different characteristics and strengths and try to nurture these rather than impose a standard set of expectations.

Active Learning

The goal of nurturing independent learning in participants does not imply that they always have to work in isolation or solely in a classroom. On the contrary, the construction of knowledge in tourism and hospitality studies can often best be carried out in collaboration with others in the field. Sharing experiences, insights and views on issues of common concern, and working together to collect information through conducting investigative studies in the field (active learning) can contribute a lot to their eventual success.

Active learning has an important part to play in fostering a sense of community in the class. First, to operate successfully, a learning community requires an ethos of acceptance and a sense of trust among participants, and between them and their trainers. Trainers can help to foster acceptance and trust through encouragement and personal example, and by allowing participants to take risks as they explore and articulate their views, however immature these may appear to be. Participants also come to realise that their classmates (and their trainers) are partners in learning and solving.

Trainers can also encourage cooperative learning by designing appropriate group learning tasks, which include, for example, collecting background information, conducting small-scale surveys, or producing media presentations on certain issues and themes. Participants need to be reminded that, while they should work towards successful completion of the field tasks, developing positive peer relationships in the process is an important objective of all group work.

Competency Based Training (CBT)

Principle of Competency Based Training

Competency based training is aimed at developing the knowledge, skills and attitudes of participants, through a variety of training tools.

Training Strategies

The aims of this curriculum are to enable participants to:

- Undertake a variety of subject courses that are relevant to industry in the current environment
- Learn current industry skills, information and trends relevant to industry
- Learn through a range of practical and theoretical approaches
- Be able to identify, explore and solve issues in a productive manner

- Be able to become confident, equipped and flexible managers of the future
- Be 'job ready' and a valuable employee in the industry upon graduation of any qualification level.

To ensure participants are able to gain the knowledge and skills required to meet competency in each unit of competency in the qualification, a range of training delivery modes are used.

Types of Training

In choosing learning and teaching strategies, trainers should take into account the practical, complex and multi-disciplinary nature of the subject area, as well as their participant's prior knowledge, learning styles and abilities.

Training outcomes can be attained by utilising one or more delivery methods:

Lecture/Tutorial

This is a common method of training involving transfer of information from the trainer to the participants. It is an effective approach to introduce new concepts or information to the learners and also to build upon the existing knowledge. The listener is expected to reflect on the subject and seek clarifications on the doubts.

Demonstration

Demonstration is a very effective training method that involves a trainer showing a participant how to perform a task or activity. Through a visual demonstration, trainers may also explain reasoning behind certain actions or provide supplementary information to help facilitate understanding.

Group Discussions

Brainstorming in which all the members in a group express their ideas, views and opinions on a given topic. It is a free flow and exchange of knowledge among the participants and the trainer. The discussion is carried out by the group on the basis of their own experience, perceptions and values. This will facilitate acquiring new knowledge. When everybody is expected to participate in the group discussion, even the introverted persons will also get stimulated and try to articulate their feelings.

The ideas that emerge in the discussions should be noted down and presentations are to be made by the groups. Sometimes consensus needs to be arrived at on a given topic. Group discussions are to be held under the moderation of a leader guided by the trainer. Group discussion technique triggers thinking process, encourages interactions and enhances communication skills.

Role Play

This is a common and very effective method of bringing into the classroom real life situations, which may not otherwise be possible. Participants are made to enact a particular role so as to give a real feel of the roles they may be called upon to play. This enables participants to understand the behaviour of others as well as their own emotions and feelings. The instructor must brief the role players on what is expected of them. The role player may either be given a ready-made script, which they can memorise and enact, or they may be required to develop their own scripts around a given situation. This technique is extremely useful in understanding creative selling techniques and human relations. It can be entertaining and energising and it helps the reserved and less literate to express their feelings.

Simulation Games

When trainees need to become aware of something that they have not been conscious of, simulations can be a useful mechanism. Simulation games are a method based on "here and now" experience shared by all the participants. The games focus on the participation of the trainees and their willingness to share their ideas with others. A "near real life" situation is created providing an opportunity to which they apply themselves by adopting certain behaviour. They then experience the impact of their behaviour on the situation. It is carried out to generate responses and reactions based on the real feelings of the participants, which are subsequently analysed by the trainer.

While use of simulation games can result in very effective learning, it needs considerable trainer competence to analyse the situations.

Individual /Group Exercises

Exercises are often introduced to find out how much the participant has assimilated. This method involves imparting instructions to participants on a particular subject through use of written exercises. In the group exercises, the entire class is divided into small groups, and members are asked to collaborate to arrive at a consensus or solution to a problem.

Case Study

This is a training method that enables the trainer and the participant to experience a real life situation. It may be on account of events in the past or situations in the present, in which there may be one or more problems to be solved and decisions to be taken. The basic objective of a case study is to help participants diagnose, analyse and/or solve a particular problem and to make them internalise the critical inputs delivered in the training. Questions are generally given at the end of the case study to direct the participants and to stimulate their thinking towards possible solutions. Studies may be presented in written or verbal form.

Field Visit

This involves a carefully planned visit or tour to a place of learning or interest. The idea is to give first-hand knowledge by personal observation of field situations, and to relate theory with practice. The emphasis is on observing, exploring, asking questions and understanding. The trainer should remember to brief the participants about what they should observe and about the customs and norms that need to be respected.

Group Presentation

The participants are asked to work in groups and produce the results and findings of their group work to the members of another sub-group. By this method participants get a good picture of each other's views and perceptions on the topic and they are able to compare them with their own point of view. The pooling and sharing of findings enriches the discussion and learning process.

Practice Sessions

This method is of paramount importance for skills training. Participants are provided with an opportunity to practice in a controlled situation what they have learnt. It could be real life or through a make-believe situation.

Games

This is a group process and includes those methods that involve usually fun-based activity, aimed at conveying feelings and experiences, which are everyday in nature, and applying them within the game being played. A game has set rules and regulations, and may or may not include a competitive element. After the game is played, it is essential that the participants be debriefed and their lessons and experiences consolidated by the trainer.

Research

Trainers may require learners to undertake research activities, including online research, to gather information or further understanding about a specific subject area.

Competency Based Assessment (CBA)

Principle of Competency Based Assessment

Competency based assessment is aimed at compiling a list of evidence that shows that a person is competent in a particular unit of competency.

Competencies are gained through a multitude of ways including:

- Training and development programs
- Formal education
- Life experience
- Apprenticeships
- On-the-job experience
- Self-help programs.

All of these together contribute to job competence in a person. Ultimately, assessors and participants work together, through the 'collection of evidence' in determining overall competence.

This evidence can be collected:

- Using different formats
- Using different people
- Collected over a period of time.

The assessor, who is ideally someone with considerable experience in the area being assessed, reviews the evidence and verifies the person as being competent or not.

Flexibility in Assessment

Whilst allocated assessment tools have been identified for this subject, all attempts are made to determine competency and suitable alternate assessment tools may be used, according to the requirements of the participant.

The assessment needs to be equitable for all participants, taking into account their cultural and linguistic needs.

Competency must be proven regardless of:

- Language
- Delivery Method
- Assessment Method.

Assessment Objectives

The assessment tools used for subjects are designed to determine competency against the 'elements of competency' and their associated 'performance criteria'.

The assessment tools are used to identify sufficient:

- a) Knowledge, including underpinning knowledge
- b) Skills
- c) Attitudes

Assessment tools are activities that trainees are required to undertake to prove participant competency in this subject.

All assessments must be completed satisfactorily for participants to obtain competence in this subject. There are no exceptions to this requirement, however, it is possible that in some cases several assessment items may be combined and assessed together.

Types of Assessment

Allocated Assessment Tools

There are a number of assessment tools that are used to determine competency in this subject:

- Work projects
- Written questions
- Oral questions
- Third Party Report
- Observation Checklist.

Instructions on how assessors should conduct these assessment methods are explained in the Assessment Manuals.

Alternative Assessment Tools

Whilst this subject has identified assessment tools, as indicated above, this does not restrict the assessor from using different assessment methods to measure the competency of a participant.

Evidence is simply proof that the assessor gathers to show participants can actually do what they are required to do.

Whilst there is a distinct requirement for participants to demonstrate competency, there are many and diverse sources of evidence available to the assessor.

Ongoing performance at work, as verified by a supervisor or physical evidence, can count towards assessment. Additionally, the assessor can talk to customers or work colleagues to gather evidence about performance.

A range of assessment methods to assess competency include:

- Practical demonstrations
- Practical demonstrations in simulated work conditions
- Problem solving
- Portfolios of evidence
- Critical incident reports
- Journals
- Oral presentations
- Interviews
- Videos
- Visuals: slides, audio tapes
- Case studies
- Log books
- Projects
- Role plays
- Group projects
- Group discussions
- Examinations.

Recognition of Prior Learning

Recognition of Prior Learning is the process that gives current industry professionals who do not have a formal qualification, the opportunity to benchmark their extensive skills and experience against the standards set out in each unit of competency/subject.

Also known as a Skills Recognition Audit (SRA), this process is a learning and assessment pathway which encompasses:

- Recognition of Current Competencies (RCC)
- Skills auditing
- Gap analysis and training
- Credit transfer.

Assessing competency

As mentioned, assessment is the process of identifying a participant's current knowledge, skills and attitudes sets against all elements of competency within a unit of competency. Traditionally in education, grades or marks were given to participants, dependent on how many questions the participant successfully answered in an assessment tool.

Competency based assessment does not award grades, but simply identifies if the participant has the knowledge, skills and attitudes to undertake the required task to the specified standard.

Therefore, when assessing competency, an assessor has two possible results that can be awarded:

- Pass Competent (PC)
- Not Yet Competent (NYC)
- Pass Competent (PC).

If the participant is able to successfully answer or demonstrate what is required, to the expected standards of the performance criteria, they will be deemed as 'Pass Competent' (PC).

The assessor will award a 'Pass Competent' (PC) if they feel the participant has the necessary knowledge, skills and attitudes in all assessment tasks for a unit.

Not Yet Competent' (NYC)

If the participant is unable to answer or demonstrate competency to the desired standard, they will be deemed to be 'Not Yet Competent' (NYC).

This does not mean the participant will need to complete all the assessment tasks again. The focus will be on the specific assessment tasks that were not performed to the expected standards.

The participant may be required to:

- a) Undertake further training or instruction
- b) Undertake the assessment task again until they are deemed to be 'Pass Competent'.

UNIT TITLE: PROVIDE FOR THE SAFETY OF VIPs		NOMINAL HOURS: 40
UNIT NUMBER: D1.HSS.CL4.06
UNIT DESCRIPTOR: This unit deals with skills and knowledge required to ensure the safety of nominated VIPs on the premises including escorting them to, in and from the premises and ensuring their safety during their stay
ELEMENTS AND PERFORMANCE CRITERIA	UNIT VARIABLE AND ASSESSMENT GUIDE
Element 1: Prepare for visits by VIPs 1.1 Identify the nature of the visit by the VIP 1.2 Liaise with relevant people regarding the visit 1.3 Identify factors impacting on VIP safety while at the premises 1.4 Create safety plans for the VIP visit 1.5 Identify resources required to support safety plans 1.6 Acquire necessary surveillance and communication equipment 1.7 Select staff to provide for VIP safety 1.8 Provide information to staff in relation to VIP safety and plans 1.9 Establish media liaison facilities and procedures	Unit Variables The Unit Variables provide advice to interpret the scope and context of this unit of competence, allowing for differences between enterprises and workplaces. It relates to the unit as a whole and facilitates holistic assessment This unit applies to staff within the labour divisions of the hotel and travel industries who are required to ensure the safety of VIPs and may include: 1. Front Office 2. Housekeeping 3. Food and Beverage Service 4. Food Production 5. Travel Agencies 6. Tour Operation Nature of the visit may include: • Day and date of the visit • Time and duration of the visit

1.10 Conduct drills to trial safety plans Element 2: Implement plans for VIP safety 2.1 Apply pre-arrival preparations 2.2 Conduct final pre-arrival checks 2.3 Meet and escort VIPs 2.4 Maintain the safety of VIPs during stay 2.5 Facilitate departure of VIPs Element 3: Conduct evaluation of plans following departure of VIP 3.1 De-brief staff who were involved with project 3.2 Analyse responses to breaches of safety that occurred 3.3 Prepare draft safety plans for future VIP visits on the basis of feedback received and analysis undertaken	• Reason for the visit • Number, names and positions of others accompanying the VIP. A VIP may include: • Royalty – local and foreign • Heads of state – local and foreign • Politicians – local and foreign • Pop/rock stars – local and foreign • Film stars – local and foreign • Sporting stars – local and foreign • Celebrities – local and foreign. Relevant people may include: • VIP managers and handlers • Local authorities including police • Staff and entourage accompanying the VIP • Security staff engaged by the VIP • Security staff engaged by the authorities • Government/embassy staff. Factors impacting on VIP safety may include: • Access to the premises relating to crowd control – including blocking of access by protestors and/or fans • Physical hazards that may exist within the premises - slippery floors, heights, stairs • Mobbing – and crushing problems • Demonstrations – including potential for conflict, projectiles and delays

	• Media presence – relating to privacy and confidentiality issues • Visual lines-of-sight – and considerations relating to cameras, snipers and shooters • Drugs and excessive alcohol consumption – relating to venue response where VIP is affected by drugs or excessive alcohol • Members of the public causing nuisance and/or threat • Weather and darkness – including consideration of how these elements impact on the level of safety • Assault. Safety plans may include: • Preparing necessary ‘prior to arrival’, ‘on arrival’, ‘during stay’ and ‘on departure’ procedures • Liaison with relevant people • Identifying roles and responsibilities • Verifying appropriate insurance is in place to cover identified contingencies • Allocating individuals to VIPs • Communication strategies • Preparing running sheets – ‘on arrival’, ‘during stay’ and ‘on departure’ • Controlling ingress and egress – including identification of restricted and ‘no-go’ zones, rear-of-premises access, staffing of doors, restricting movement of members of the public and unauthorised persons • Identification and tagging of authorised personnel – including security checks of same • Identification of appropriate uniforms, personal appearance and interpersonal skills for staff • Screening of mail (including emails and faxes), parcels, vehicles and telephone calls • Emergency response procedures – such as trigger points for ‘lockdown’ and ‘flee’ responses

	• Evacuation procedures – including safe transport arrangements, safe route and safe evacuation point/s based on differing threat types. Resources may include: • Personnel – internal and external including those provided by VIP including security checks as required • Transport – to, within and from the host establishment • Firearms and ‘less than lethal’ equipment – such as batons, sprays, restraints, handcuffs • Protective equipment – including helmets and shields • Communication equipment – portable radios, mobile telephones and land-line telephones • Electronic surveillance and detection equipment • Facilities to screen areas and restrict access and vision • Authorities to over-ride traditional internal scopes of authority • Plans and maps of the layout of the host establishment and environs • External assistance for road closures, crowd control, identification checking, access limitation – private security companies and local authorities, including police • Personnel to undertake checks of premises - dog searches, physical searching, electronic surveillance, staff checks, checks on vehicles entering site • Rosters for staff • Running sheet to guide security activities. Surveillance and communication equipment may include: • Electronic surveillance equipment • Electronic detection equipment • Closed circuit televisions, recorders and monitors

	• Portable radios, mobile telephones and land-line telephones • Patching facilities into communications systems used by support agencies and personnel • Establishment of a control and communications room • Conducting tests of all surveillance and communications equipment. Staff to provide for VIP safety may include: • External security companies and guards • Police • Personal bodyguards • Internal security staff • Staff provided by, or accompanying VIP • Security checks • Identification of authorised staff. Information to staff may include: • Providing details of visit and VIP on a 'need to know' basis only • Maintaining secrecy regarding preventative measures that have been taken • Advising of changes to standard operating procedures – including revisions to restricted areas, new no-go zones, allocation of standard duties to other personnel • Advising of emergency and evacuation procedures that have been established • Notifying staff of drills to be undertaken prior to actual arrival of VIP • Prohibiting taking of photographs and seeking of autographs • Prohibiting staff contact with media. Media liaison facilities and procedures may include: • Preparing media releases

	• Procedures for media contact in the event of problems, emergencies, or breaches of security • Nominating single media contact person for the host establishment. Drills to trial safety plans may include: • Practicing emergency procedures • Implementing all details of the safety plans that have been developed • Involving outside agencies and personnel • Testing communications and surveillance equipment and protocols • Conducting response trials focusing on potential/probable safety breaches • Staging simulated breaches of security to test responses • Revising safety plans on the basis of feedback/observation of trials • Re-running drills based on alterations made to safety plans on the basis of observation and feedback. Pre-arrival preparations may include: • Training staff in required responsibilities and tasks – including use of relevant equipment, application of designated protocols • Supplying necessary food and beverages • Providing necessary support facilities – toilets, wash room, make-up room, media interview room, change room • Erecting barricades and cordoning off areas in accordance with safety plan • Restricting public access in accordance with safety plan • Implementing re-allocation of duties and standard operating procedures in accordance with safety plan. Final pre-arrival checks may include: • Confirming functional operation of communications and control centre

	• Keying off lifts in accordance with safety plan • Conducting sweep of area for suspicious packages and unauthorised persons • Confirming identity of all persons within restricted areas • Checking locked areas • Confirming lines of sight are protected and/or available as required • Conducting communication checks • Confirming key personnel are in position in accordance with safety plan • Confirming security of all areas in accordance with safety plan • Up-dating staff of last minute changes • Issuing 'all clear' notification. Meet and escort VIPs may include: • Securing arrival area and entry route to 'first arrival' location • Identifying VIP/VIPs • Integrating and liaising with external security staff to facilitate arrival • Handling secure entry to building • Monitoring crowds and observing environment for threats – including intoxicated persons, drug-affected persons, persons causing public nuisance, political activists, mentally deranged persons • Notifying communication and control room of threats, progress and deviations from scheduled running sheet • Requesting assistance where threat or problems arise • Matching security level to degree of threat or danger identified • Adapting security procedures on the basis of VIP requests and preferences, where possible

	• Accompanying VIPs to designated 'first arrival' location • Confirming security of 'first arrival' location • Handing over security at 'first arrival' location to designated 'first arrival' location staff. Safety of VIPs during stay may include: • Conducting on-going sweeps and searches • Maintaining restricted access to facilities and no-go zones • Confirming security protocols are being adhered to • Checking identification of persons in the vicinity • Liaising with external security staff and authorities • Maintaining vigils on doors, windows and other designated locations – inside and outside the building • Checking vehicles – including vehicles entering the premises and those parked close by • Removing unauthorised vehicles and persons • Screening calls, communications and deliveries to VIPs • Restricting the movement of VIPs where security is compromised • Escorting staff who are serving VIPs • Providing static protection services • Maintaining surveillance, communication and monitoring activities in accordance with safety plan • Modifying standing plans in response to threats or other issues arising • Providing notification to staff of progress and changes to plans and previous advices.

	Departure of VIPs may involve: • Keying off lifts in accordance with safety plan • Conducting sweep of area for suspicious packages and unauthorised persons • Confirming identity of all persons within restricted areas • Checking locked areas • Confirming lines of sight are protected and/or available as required • Conducting communication checks • Confirming key personnel are in position in accordance with safety plan • Confirming security of all areas in accordance with safety plan • Up-dating staff of last minute changes • Issuing 'all clear/ready to exit' notification • Integrating and liaising with external security staff to facilitate departure • Handling secure departure from rooms and building • Monitoring crowds and observing environment for threats – including intoxicated persons, drug-affected persons, persons causing public nuisance, political activists, mentally deranged persons • Notifying communication and control room of threats, progress and deviations from scheduled running sheet • Requesting assistance where threat or problems arise • Matching security level to degree of threat or danger identified • Adapting security procedures on the basis of VIP requests and preferences, where possible • Accompanying VIPs to designated departure location • Confirming security of departure location • Checking vehicles – including vehicles entering the premises and those parked close by

	• Removing unauthorised vehicles and persons • Handing over security at departure point to other designated security staff. De-brief staff may include: • Meeting with internal staff involved in security to discuss security procedures that were implemented with a view to identifying security breaches and improving planning and responses for future VIP events • Obtaining feedback from external security staff and authorities. Analyse responses to breaches may include: • Watching and analysing video-tape of the event – arrival, during the stay and departure • Interviewing staff involved in the security event • Interviewing persons who breached security • Answering standard security questions, such as: why did it happen? Who was involved? Where did it happen? What happened as a result? What could have happened as a result? How can it be prevented in the future? Was it an equipment or human failure? Assessment Guide The following skills and knowledge must be assessed as part of this unit: • Knowledge of the enterprise's policies and procedures in regard to security and visiting VIPs • Understanding of host country legislation in relation to the carrying and use of weapons, and the apprehension and detention of offenders • Principles of security, personal observation, detection and electronic surveillance • Ability to use security equipment including weapons, electronic equipment and personal protection and safety equipment • Ability to undertake a risk and treat assessment • Ability to liaise with other people, companies and the authorities

	• Ability to use interpersonal and communication skills • Ability to use planning skills • Ability to respond to emergency situations • Ability to use crowd control techniques. Linkages To Other Units • Maintain the security of premises and property • Operate basic security equipment • Manage intoxicated persons • Escort, carry and store valuable items. Critical Aspects of Assessment Evidence of the following is essential: • Demonstrated ability to prepare and undertake a trial of a safety plan for the visit of a nominated VIP • Demonstrated ability to identify and use the surveillance, detection and communication equipment required to provide for the safety of a nominated VIP • Demonstrated ability to liaise with media, authorities and external service providers in relation to the visit of a nominated VIP • Demonstrated ability to undertake pre-arrival security and other related preparations for a nominated VIP • Demonstrated ability to conduct internal and external pre-arrival security checks for the visit of a nominated VIP • Demonstrated ability to meet and safely escort a nominated VIP to a designated 'first arrival' location • Demonstrated ability to protect the safety of a nominated VIP during an identified length of stay at a designated establishment

	• Demonstrated ability to provide secure escort and protection services for a nominated VIP on departure from the establishment at the conclusion of a stay • Demonstrated ability to evaluate and improve safety plans following the stay of a nominated VIP at a designated establishment. Context of Assessment Assessment must ensure: • Actual or simulated workplace application of security and safety procedures which must include 'on arrival', 'during stay' and 'on departure' activities for a nominated VIP. Resource Implications Training and assessment must include actual security and safety equipment and people within simulated scenarios. Assessment Methods The following methods may be used to assess competency for this unit: • Observation of practical candidate performance • Role plays • Case studies • Simulated exercises • Oral and written questions • Third party reports completed by a supervisor • Project and assignment work.

	Key Competencies in this Unit Level 1 = competence to undertake tasks effectively Level 2 = competence to manage tasks Level 3 = competence to use concepts for evaluating
	Key Competencies	Level	Examples
	Collecting, organising and analysing information	3	Evaluating existing safety plans for upcoming VIP visits
	Communicating ideas and information	2	Conveying safety plan contents to others
	Planning and organising activities	3	Creating safety plans for VIP visit
	Working with others and in teams	3	Liaising with external personnel and authorities to determine threat levels; liaising with internal personnel to ensure safety and security of visiting VIP/s
	Using mathematical ideas and techniques	1	Rostering staff to implement safety plans
	Solving problems	2	Revising safety plans on the basis of trials and past events; responding to emerging threats

Provide for the safety of VIPs

This Unit comprises three Elements:

- Prepare for visits by VIPs
- Implement plans for VIP safety
- Conduct evaluation of plans following departure of VIP

Slide 2

Slide No	Trainer Notes
2.	Trainer advises trainees this Unit comprises three Elements, as listed on the slide explaining: • Each Element comprises a number of Performance Criteria which will be identified throughout the class and explained in detail • Trainees can obtain more detail from their Trainee Manual • At times the course presents advice and information about various protocols but where their workplace requirements differ to what is presented, the workplace practices and standards, as well as policies and procedures must be observed.

Slide

Assessment

Assessment for this unit may include:

- Oral questions
- Written questions
- Work projects
- Workplace observation of practical skills
- Practical exercises
- Formal report from employer/supervisor

Slide 3

Slide No	Trainer Notes
3.	Trainer advises trainees that assessment for this Unit may take several forms, all of which are aimed at verifying they have achieved competency for the Unit as required. Trainer indicates to trainees the methods of assessment that will be applied to them for this Unit.

Slide

Prepare for visits by VIPs

Performance Criteria for this Element are:

- Identify the nature of the visit by VIP ✓
- Liaise with relevant people regarding the visit ✓
- Identify factors impacting on VIP safety while at the premises ✓
- Create safety plans for the VIP visit ✓
- Identify resources required to support safety plans ✓

Slide

Prepare for visits by VIPs

- Acquire necessary surveillance and communication equipment ✓
- Select staff to provide for VIP safety ✓
- Provide information to staff in relation to VIP safety and plans ✓
- Establish media liaison facilities and procedures ✓
- Conduct drills to trial safety plans ✓

Slide 5

Slide No	Trainer Notes
5.	Trainer identifies for trainees the Performance Criteria for this Element, as listed on the slide. Class Activity – Discussion Trainer asks trainees questions about preparing for visits by VIPs by asking questions such as: • What does VIP stand for? • Who are VIPs? • Why is it necessary to provide for their safety? • What factors do you think might impact the safety of a visiting VIP? • Why is there a need to consider media liaison facilities and what might these be?

Slide

Identify nature of visit

Step 1 for a VIP visit is to identify the nature of the visit and the VIP.

VIP = Very Important Person.

VIPs may be:

- Male or female
- Local or foreign
- On their own or accompanied

Slide 6

Slide No	Trainer Notes
6.	Trainer states the first step in preparing for a visit from a VIP is to identify the nature of the visit and the identity of the VIP explaining: • The acronym VIP stands for 'Very Important Person' • VIPs may be: ▪ Male or female ▪ Local or foreign ▪ On their own ▪ Accompanied by: – Other VIPs – An entourage of people – see next slide.

Slide

Identify nature of visit

‘Entourage’ = those who accompany the VIP:

- Personal staff of the VIP:
 - Personal assistants
 - Media liaison and PR
 - Cooks/chefs
 - Bodyguards
 - Valets
- Third party security providers and contractors

Slide 7

Slide No	Trainer Notes
7.	Trainer explains an entourage is the group of people who accompany a VIP stating: • These are often personal staff or third party providers/contractors they have employed to provide services such as security and driving • Personal staff who are likely to be part of the VIP entourage include: ▪ Personal assistant ▪ Media liaison and PR ▪ Cook/chef ▪ Bodyguard ▪ Valet.

Slide

Identify nature of visit

VIPs may include:

- Royalty:
 - Kings
 - Queens
 - Others?

Slide 8

Slide No	Trainer Notes
8.	Trainer gives examples of VIPs: • Royalty – in our industry context the interpretation of royalty is quite liberal and tends to include anyone such as: ▪ Kings ▪ Queens. Class Activity – Question and Answer Trainer asks class to give more examples of 'Royalty'. Possible answers • Princes and princesses • Dukes and duchesses • Counts and viscounts • Barons and baronets.

Trainer asks class to name examples of ‘Those who have received special honours’ who could be classified as VIPs.

Slide

Identify nature of visit

VIPs may visit:

- As a stopover which is part of a longer journey
- To perform in a professional capacity
- For holidays

Slide 14

Slide No	Trainer Notes
----------	---------------

14.	Trainer explains that VIPs can visit for a wide range of reasons such as: • As a stopover on the way to another destination • To perform in a professional capacity which may involve: ▪ To play sport ▪ To present entertainment ▪ To attend a meeting ▪ To open an event or building • For holiday purposes – for rest and relaxation.

Slide

Identify nature of visit

Additional details of VIP visit to identify include:

- Dates of visit and arrival
- Relevant times and duration
- Entourage details
- Special requests, arrangements, preferences and requirements

Slide 15

Slide No	Trainer Notes
15.	Trainer identifies details of the VIP visit which also need to be determined as part of the planning and preparation process: • Date of the visit including day of the week to use as a cross-check to verify the date • Time and duration of the visit in relation to: ▪ Date and time of arrival in the country where applicable ▪ Date and time of arrival at the venue ▪ Dates and times of trips from the venue and return to the venue during the stay ▪ Date and time of final departure from the venue ▪ Date and time of departure from the country where applicable • Entourage details, addressing: ▪ Numbers in the entourage ▪ Their names ▪ Their positions and responsibilities • Special requests which have been notified, such as requirements for: ▪ Arrangements to be observed 'on arrival' at the venue: – Do they want a discreet arrival? – Do they want media attendance? – Do they need food and beverages?

	▪ Preferences and requirements in relation to issues such as: – Security – Accommodation – Service provision – Transportation.
--	---

Slide

Identify nature of visit

When identifying details about an upcoming VIP visit:

- Record the details – never rely on memory and never rely on others
- Use a small notebook – it's low-tech but very effective

Slide 16

Slide No	Trainer Notes
16.	Trainer emphasises when identifying details of the visit: • Record the details as opposed to relying on memory or believing you will be able to recall relevant information when needed • Use a small notebook as the basis for recording details and make this notebook a constant companion until the visit has been finalised.

Slide

Liaise with others

All VIP visits require 'liaison' with others:

- Communication must be two-way
 - VIP/entourage to you
 - You to VIP/entourage/managers
- Make sure you document all communications

Slide 17

Slide No

Trainer Notes

17.

Trainer states that when preparing for a VIP visit there will always be a need to liaise with others regarding the visit highlighting:

- There is a need for two-way communication between you and the VIP visitor:
 - The VIP – or their entourage – will need to contact you to ask questions, seek clarification and give instructions
 - You will need to communicate with the VIP or their representatives for the same reasons
- Record communications – use notebook mentioned previously.

Slide

Liaise with others

Liaison and communication may be required with:

- Managers – tour managers/VIP managers and handlers
- Local authorities
- VIP staff and entourage
- Security staff
- Government/embassy staff

Slide 18

Slide No	Trainer Notes
18.	Trainer identifies people with whom liaison/communication can be required: • Managers • Local authorities • Staff and entourage of VIP • Security staff • Government/embassy staff.

Slide

Liaise with others

VIP managers and handlers:

- Not all VIPs have/travel with managers or handlers
- They are responsible for arranging and organising the visit
- They manage problems and issues on behalf of the VIP
- There will be regular communication with them

Slide 19

Slide No	Trainer Notes
19.	Trainer discusses liaison with VIP managers and handlers: • Many (but not all) VIPs travel with managers and handlers • These people are responsible for arranging and organising the visit • They manage the visit from the VIP's perspective and handle things such as problems, media, requests from the public, movement between locations, transportation, and general day to day issues that arise • They will need to regularly communicate with you to provide direction and verify arrangements.

Slide

Liaise with others

Managers/handlers will:

- Provide you with standard requirements
- Provide you with updates as they take place
- Demand you communicate with them to advise of issues, provide updates and confirm arrangements
- Expect to be able to contact you easily 24/7

Slide 20

Slide No	Trainer Notes
20.	Trainer further discusses roles of VIP managers and handlers: ● Usually provide a standard list of requirements for the VIP – especially where the VIP travels frequently ▪ This list provides an extremely useful (and non-negotiable) list of issues which need to be addressed ● Provide you with updates about the visit as factors impacting on the visit change ▪ You must expect there to be a regular updates and changes ● Require you to communicate with them when: ▪ Arrangements have been finalised ▪ Requests have been met ▪ Problems arise ▪ There is any need to clarify requirements ● Expect you to: ▪ Be available 24 hours/day. This is necessary due to the differences in time zones which often apply ▪ Be available by telephone – having a cell phone is vital as this is always their preferred method of communication ▪ Have email facilities – to facilitate the exchange of hard copy information, agreements, arrangements etc.

Slide

Liaise with others

Local authorities include:

- Local politicians
- Local council
- Managers, department heads, heads of authorities and agencies

Slide 21

Slide No

Trainer Notes

21.

Trainer states local authorities often want to be included when a VIP visits and identifies local authorities as including:

- Local politicians
- Local council members
- Managers of authorities and agencies.

Class Activity – Question and Answer

Trainer asks students to identify reasons why local authorities (politicians, councils and government authorities/agencies) may want to be involved with a VIP visit.

Possible answers

Local authorities may want to:

- Meet the VIP
- Make a presentation to them
- Provide a gift
- Acknowledge the visit or person
- Offer assistance
- Represent/promote the local area.

Slide

Liaise with others

Local police will always be advised of a VIP visit:

- For operational reasons
- As a courtesy
- Assist with security and crowd control
- Facilitate traffic movement and management
- Provide intelligence

Slide 22

Slide No	Trainer Notes
22.	Trainer states local police will always be notified of a VIP visit (for operational reasons and as a courtesy) and be available to: • Assist with security • Provide crowd control • Facilitate traffic movement • Provide relevant intelligence about the visit/the VIP. Class Activity – Guest Speaker Trainer arranges for Guest Speaker from local police to attend and: • Advise the notification they would like in relation to a VIP visit • Explain support and services they can deliver • Provide advice in relation to preparing for and hosting a VIP visit • Give anecdotal evidence from previous VIP visits of preparations, incidents and responses.

Slide

Liaise with others

VIP staff and entourage will contact you to:

- Advise of their individual needs
- Communicate updates and changes
- Find out arrangements already made with managers and handlers
- Seek local information and knowledge to facilitate the visit

Slide 23

Slide No	Trainer Notes
23.	Trainer discusses liaison/communication with VIP staff and entourage stating they also may also want to make direct contact (in addition to managers and handlers) to: • Advise of their individual needs – these are the requirements they personally want met • Pass on amendments to previous communications/agreements • Identify arrangements which have been made between you and the managers and handlers • Seek local knowledge, for example about: ▪ The venue ▪ The local area ▪ Local contacts ▪ Facilities and services available.

Slide

Liaise with others

External security staff will communicate regarding:

- Identifying security requirements
- Integrating their service provision with yours
- Determining on-site resources and systems
- Providing details on previous arrangements and threats
- Helping with pre-arrival activities
- Rosters and staffing
- Screening of staff

Slide 24

Slide No	Trainer Notes
24.	Trainer explains where security staff have been engaged by the VIP or the authorities they will need to liaise/communicate regarding: • Identifying security arrangements • Integrating their provision of services with those provided with the venue • Determining security systems, equipment, resources and facilities which exist at the venue • Providing details about previous security arrangements and threats • Pre-arrival inspections and sweeps • Security rosters for patrol, static guard, surveillance and close escort duties • Screening staff who will be serving/working with the VIP.

Slide

Liaise with others

The Government or the embassy is usually only involved where VIP is Royalty or Politician.

They will liaise in relation to:

- Development of programmes
- Protocols
- Security support

Slide 25

Slide No	Trainer Notes
----------	---------------

25.

Trainer states that traditionally government and embassy staff will only be involved where the VIP is royalty or a very senior government official (local or foreign) and liaison in this context will address:

- Development of the programme for the visit
- Protocols to be used for the visit
- Security support.

Slide

Liaise with others

Other topics which will be addressed as part of liaison and communication with 'relevant others':

- Arrival and departure arrangements
- Side travel, trips and tours
- Entertainment
- Use of in-house facilities
- Integration of venue services with entourage service delivery

Slide 26

Slide No	Trainer Notes
26.	Trainer identifies additional topics which might be addressed as part of the liaison process with 'relevant people': • Arrival and departure arrangements • Side travel, trips and tours such as sightseeing and shopping • Entertainment – type, date, numbers, venues, seats and tickets • Use of in-house facilities – what and when, how many • Integration of your services with those to be provided by the VIP and staff with reference to: ▪ Service provision ▪ Security ▪ Support services.

Slide

Liaise with others

- Food and beverages
- Timing issues
- Media liaison
- Personal preferences
- Account settlement

Slide 27

Slide No	Trainer Notes
27.	Trainer continues identifying additional topics which might be addressed as part of the liaison process with 'relevant people': • Food and beverages and other dining-related issues such as service style and criteria, privacy requirements, wines, order of service • Timing issues for a wide range of activities • Media liaison and opportunities for interviews and photographs • Personal preferences for food types and cooking styles, seating and sleeping, brand names of products to be provided • Settlement of the account. Class Activity – Guest Speaker Trainer arranges for suitable Guest Services Manager from a local venue to attend and talk to students about: • Planning and preparation for a VIP visit • Issues to be addressed • VIPs they have dealt with • VIP visits they have managed • Suggestions for planning VIP visits • Tips for handling VIPs during their stay • Examples of problems/threats with VIP visits they have been associated with.

Slide

Identify factors impacting VIP safety

When a VIP is going to visit:

- Safety plans must be prepared
- Safety plans must reflect identified factors impacting on VIP safety during the visit

Slide 28

Slide No	Trainer Notes
28.	Trainer stresses: • Safety plans need to be prepared for all VIP visits • An essential pre-requisite for preparing safety plans for a VIP visit is to identify factors impacting on their safety while at the venue – see following slides.

Slide

Identify factors impacting VIP safety

Sources of information on threats/safety issues:

- The VIP
- Managers and handlers
- Authorities
- Monitoring the media

Slide 29

Slide No	Trainer Notes
29.	Trainer identifies information regarding factors impacting on VIP safety for a visit can be sourced from the following: • Speaking directly with the VIP. This is not always possible but is an option which should always be considered • The managers, handlers or security staff of the VIP can provide details of relevant factors to you. This may relate to: ▪ Previous occurrences involving the VIP ▪ New behaviour the VIP is recently displaying ▪ Special requests/requirements and preferences which may raise potential safety and security issues. This can involve communicating to you things such as: – Where they want to go – What they want to see – Activities they want to engage in • The authorities can be asked for advice or they may be proactive in providing information as a pre-visit briefing and on an ongoing basis prior to the actual visit. This can include input from police and embassies who may: ▪ Advise of threat analyses they have undertaken ▪ Explain issues associated with similar previous visits by VIPs

- Highlight local issues they believe will impact on the visit
- Monitoring the media – see below.

Class Activity – Question and Answer

Trainer asks students to identify ways in which the media can be used to identify factors which will potentially impact on the safety of a VIP during their stay.

Possible answers

- Monitoring the media. A lot of useful 'threat' information can be obtained by monitoring:
 - The internet; Newspapers; Magazines; Radio; Television
- In this context the media should involve:
 - Local media
 - Media in the city/country the VIP is currently in
 - Media in the home-town of the VIP
- Attention should be paid to identifying:
 - Responses in other cities and countries to the presence of the VIP
 - Depth, extent and nature of the reaction
 - Cross-section profiling of those involved in presenting a threat
 - How the threats were addressed.

Slide

Identify factors impacting VIP safety

Also consider:

- Even a crowd which 'loves' the VIP can pose a risk
- 'Minders' are usually very honest about the information they provide
- Many VIPs think they are 'above the law'

Slide 30

Slide No	Trainer Notes
30.	Trainer presents a series of points to take into account when considering factors impacting on the safety of VIPs: • Even a crowd which is positive towards the VIP (that is, they are supports and fans) can pose a safety risk ▪ There is no comprehensive list of threats – you have to research to determine what the threats are • Security staff ('minders') employed by the VIP are usually very honest when they talk to venue staff about the behaviour and habits of the person/people they are protecting. They are very concerned about preserving the safety of the VIP so will usually be very cooperative and very forthcoming about threats • Many VIPs think they are above the law. For example, just because a country bans drugs does not mean they will respect this law. ▪ They often think they can get away with it even if they are caught because the country will not want the negative publicity which accompanies an arrest or detention ▪ This underlines the fact many VIPs cannot be expected to take personal responsibility for their own safety ▪ In reality, many VIPs genuinely expect and believe someone else will take care of any problems they create.

Slide

Identify factors impacting VIP safety

- The reputation of the venue hinges on how the visit goes
- Prepare for the worst and hope for the best
- Develop and maintain open, regular and honest communication with the VIP and managers
- Do your research

Slide 31

Slide No	Trainer Notes
31.	Trainer continues presenting a series of points to take into account when considering factors impacting on the safety of VIPs: • The reputation of the venue relies to a great extent on the way the visit of the VIP is handled and the way in which the portrayal of the visit takes place in the media. ▪ You really have to remember everything which is done or which occurs will be recorded and broadcast • Prepare for the worst and hope for the best – your planning should always adopt a ‘worst case scenario’. ▪ Once you have identified a potential threat you need to address it ▪ You can never afford to ignore what has been flagged as a possible factor impacting on safety or security • Develop and maintain regular, open and honest communication between yourself and the VIP or their representatives/handlers. ▪ It is vital you know what they know as soon as they know it ▪ You also need to advise them of plans/arrangements which have been made to protect their safety • Do your research – threats are rarely what they appear to be on first glance. ▪ Take time and make the effort to investigate and gather intelligence about the issue before you make decisions regarding it.

Slide

Identify factors impacting VIP safety

Your responsibilities are to:

- Identify and address threats within the venue
- Liaise and cooperate with external security providers

Slide 32

Slide No	Trainer Notes
32.	Trainer highlights venue responsibility for a VIP visit is to: • Identify and address safety and security factors which exist within the venue and the grounds of the property. It is up to others (police, private security) to deal with issues outside the boundaries of your venue • Liaise with external personnel and assist them in providing optimum safety and security within the venue and adjacent to the venue as VIPs arrive and depart.

Slide

Identify factors impacting VIP safety

Possible threats and issues relate to:

- Crowd control
- Routes to be taken
- Media coverage
- Weather and time of day
- VIP behaviours

Slide 33

Slide No	Trainer Notes
33.	Trainer identifies specific examples of potential generic threats and issues which may need to be addressed: • Crowd control • Routes to be taken • Media coverage • Weather and time of day • Intoxication and other behaviour/s.

Slide

Identify factors impacting VIP safety

In relation to 'crowd control' your responsibility is:

- Access to the venue
- Departure from the venue
- Movement within the venue

Slide 34

Slide No	Trainer Notes
34.	Trainer discusses crowd control highlighting responsibility in this regard is limited to: • Access to the venue for the arrival of the VIP and their party • Departure from the venue. When the VIP leaves for an engagement and/or when they depart the venue at the end of their stay • Movement of the VIP within the venue.

Slide

Identify factors impacting VIP safety

'Crowds' pose the following threats and issues:

- Blocked access
- Risk of injury:
 - To VIP
 - To crowd/others
- Delays
- Demonstrations

Slide 35

Slide No	Trainer Notes
35.	Trainer identifies threats/issues which may be posed by a crowd: • Blocking of access (vehicles and foot traffic) and general nuisance • Risk of injury to members of the public/people in the crowd through, for example. mobbing and crushing problems • Assault on the VIP which may be a physical or verbal assault, a threatening gesture which causes fright/alarm or any action giving rise to negative or sensationalist publicity • Delays to the scheduled programme for the VIP. Most VIP visits run to a very tight programme and delays caused by crowds can cause situations which are difficult, if not impossible, to retrieve • Demonstrations, including the potential for negative media images, conflict, projectiles and delays ▪ Even demonstrations which are indicated as being 'passive' in nature must be taken into account as they often transition into 'active and negative'.
